TREVECCA SHARES COMMON BONDS . . .

TIA football can involve some hard knocks!

Is Phillip Potter sleeping or studying?

Flash those pearly whites!!

Throughout our lifetime, we meet people with whom we share the same emotions, goals, and experiences. From the time we are nursery age until death, we will always associate with those that are like us. We have come to college and met with those that share these insights. The students, faculty, administration, and alumni all share these common bonds that keep us tightly woven together as one unit. Some of the common bonds that we develop at TNC are academic, physical, spiritual and social.

Sandra Musgrove gets down to business with Management Concepts.

Doug Reed gets inspired during Prayer and Praise.

ACADEMIC

Danelle Hyde doesn't fiddle around when it comes to violin lessons.

Searching for important information is relevant to Arlene Talley.

We share bonds academically. Each individual comes to TNC with the same goal. Although our one goal may diverge into different fields of study, our ultimate goal is to get a college education. To attain this college education, we have to spend countless hours studying, reading, and researching. The time spent on our education makes the academic bonds tighter, bringing us closer together as one.

Research is a vital part of academic excellence.

Danny Eaton and Jeff Alford take some time out of their busy schedule to study.

Studying does not diminish the time Mark Eby and Tammy Davis spend together.

PHYSICAL . . .

Kim Allinder, the future's next lightweight body builder champion.

Richard Knowlen takes a swing at his favorite sport.
The weight room is an active place for those shaping up.

We share common bonds physically. Trevecca keeps physically fit by lifting weights, playing tennis and racquet ball, jogging, and various other recreational activities. While doing these recreational activities, bonds are formed between those involved that enhance the routine of a college schedule.

Ronnie Simons gives encouragement to one of the society football team members.

Kim Parker enjoys a game of air hockey.

Basketball takes concentration when trying to make a basket.

SPIRITUAL . . .

To grow closer to each other and God, students get together to read and study God's word.

During Spiritual Renewal Week, Melinda Nabors leads the singing.

Singing is an act of praise during worship.

We share bonds spiritually. Some of the strongest bonds we share are the bonds we have as Christians. Through chapel, prayer and praise, revivals and floor devotions, our spiritual bonds are strengthened. We lean and depend on each other for strength and encouragement as we walk in our Christian faith.

After having devotions, Laurie McCullum and a friend have prayer.

Fall Retreat provided help to students through prayer.

To express their love for each other, first floor Johnson made the love web.

SOCIAL

Suzanne Haight and Donna Harris enhance their friendship through sharing.

Raggedy Ann is in need of desperate help!

Tim Smith and Pedro Vazquez give a look of fear as they prepare to brave the Benson hill.

We share bonds socially. During our stay at Trevecca, we make friends that remain with us throughout our lifetime. These friends may not always be a part of our life; yet, they will remain in our memory as part of our college experience. As we reflect in years to come, we will never forget the bonds we created with friends while taking a class together, talking over a major problem, or even playing jokes on each other.

These three Circle K men look forward to times off TNC's campus.

Playing pranks on friends extracts the boredom of dorm life.

To pass time, a group of students play Rook.

BONDED TOGETHER IN CHRIST

After a knockdown, Scott Heiser is aided by fellow teammates.

Classes are a necessary part of the academic world of Trevecca.

The body is a unit, though it is made up of many parts and though all of its parts are many, they form one body. So it is with Christ. But God has combined the members of the body and has given greater honor to the parts that lacked it, so that there should be no division in the body, but that its parts should have equal concern for each other. If one part suffers, every part suffers with it. If one part is honored, every part rejoices with it. Now you are the body of Christ, and each one of you is a part of it. 1 Corinthians 12:12, 24-27

Jenny Lanham wonders if this is the right book.

George Gonzalez studies intently.

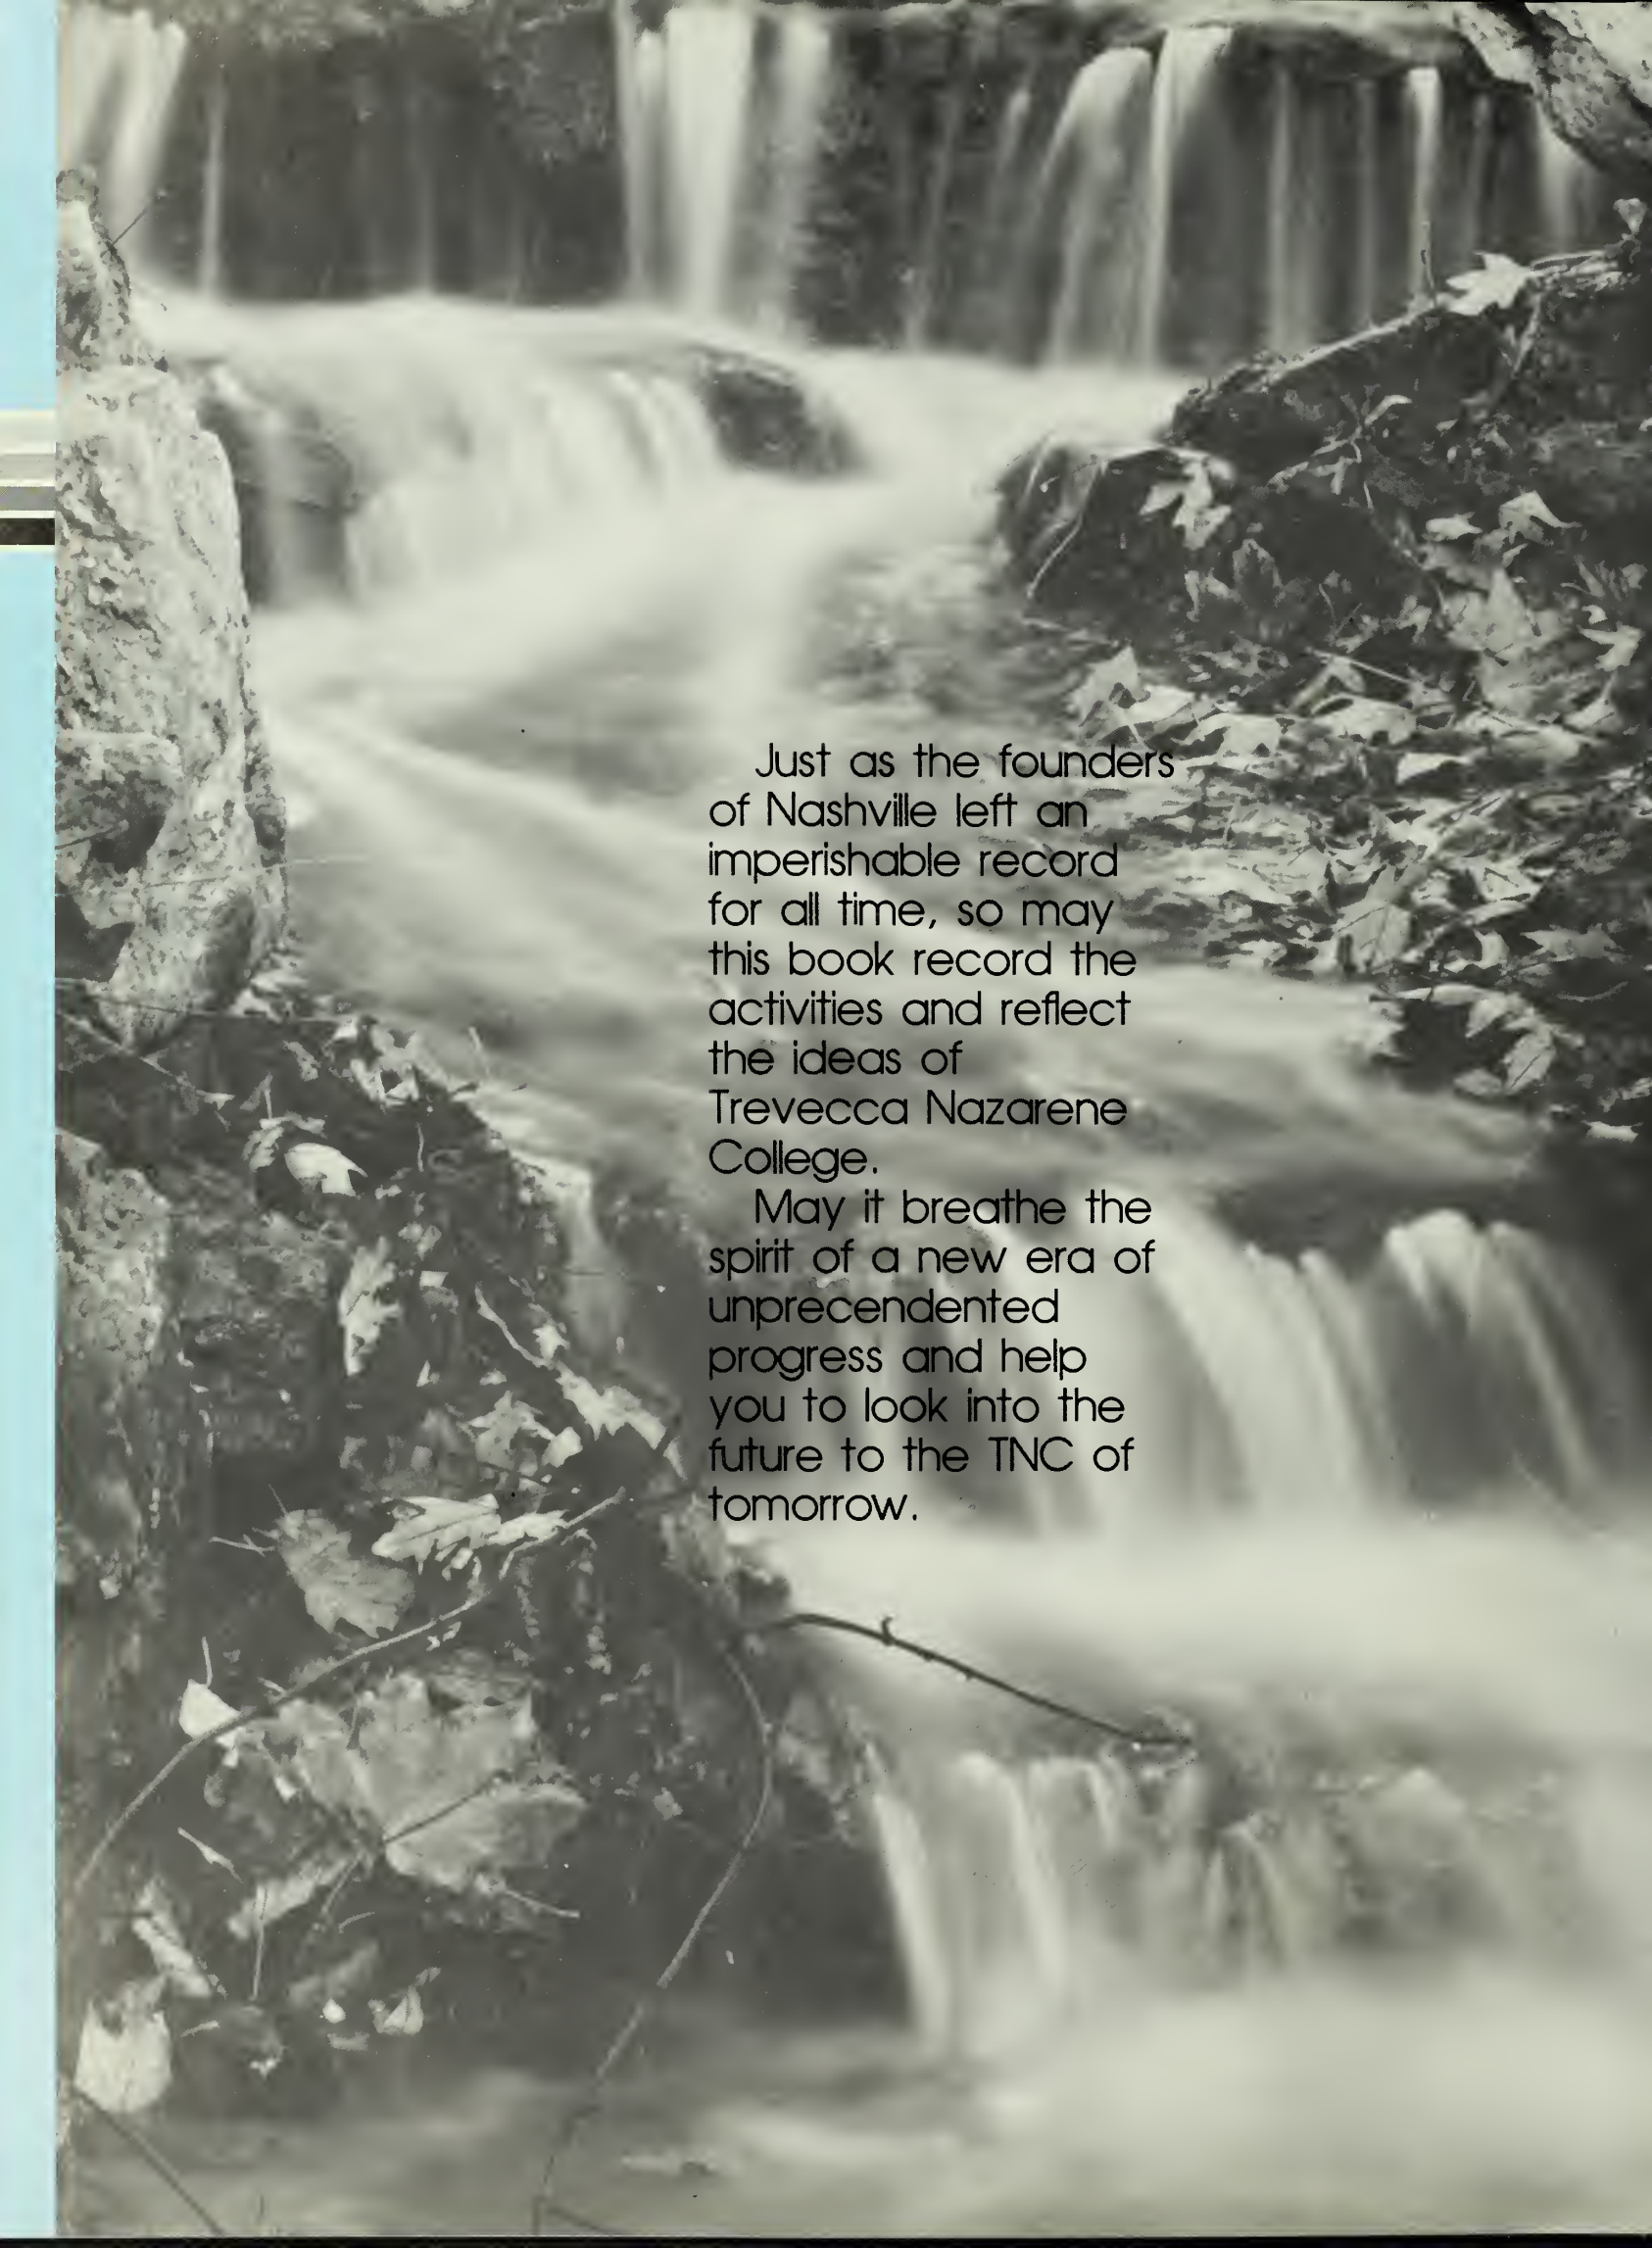

Scott Lowry speaks to TNC students at fall retreat.

In Dedication To

Mrs. Lois Eades

Upholding the ideals of Christian education, she has instructed hundreds of students throughout her years of teaching. Her mastery of English has resulted in honors and recognition, but more importantly students have benefited from her genuine concern and interest in them. Those with personal as well as academic problems have found in her understanding and encouragement. It is with love and appreciation that we dedicate the 1985 Dard to Mrs. Lois Eades.

Just as the founders of Nashville left an imperishable record for all time, so may this book record the activities and reflect the ideas of Trevecca Nazarene
College.

May it breathe the spirit of a new era of unprecedented progress and help you to look into the future to the TNC of tomorrow.

STUDENT LIFE

An abstract graphic on the left side of the page. It features a series of concentric semi-circles, with the outermost being a thin white line and the innermost being a solid black circle. These semi-circles are set against a background of horizontal lines in various shades of gray, which appear to flow from the left and curve around the base of the semi-circles.

Student Life. It was usual and unusual. From registration to graduation, student activities were a mixture of the ordinary and exciting. Many events, such as Homecoming, followed the same usual pattern. Other events, such as the dedication of the Jernigan Student Life Center, added a new aspect to TNC's campus.

Jernigan Student Life Center

At long last, the Jernigan Student Life Center has been completed. It has taken a little over a year to get the building ready for use, with completion deadlines falling by the wayside since August of 1984.

The student life center, named in honor of Dr. Don Jernigan for his financial and moral support of the college, was dedicated October 16, 1984, at eleven o'clock a.m. Several hundred guests and the student body attended. Among them were a few highly honored guests, such as Congressman Bill Boner.

The building, costing a little over 2.3 million dollars, will serve students for years to come. Money came from many sources, including private and corporate gifts, loans and grants, not to mention a one million dollar endowment from Dr. Jernigan.

The Jernigan Student Life Center has been worth the wait and has been in full use since it opened on October 12, 1984. This fine work of modern architecture imposes a unique contrast on the existing buildings throughout the campus.

Club Rush

Club rush is exactly as the name describes it — different clubs and organizations rush freshmen, transfers, and noninvolved students to join their club because it is the best. Short speeches and sale pitches play a major role in the success of recruits for the different clubs. Style as well as originality are displayed by every club involved.

Several students gather around the College Republican Display.

Christine Elsaieh dresses creatively to stay at the TACT display.

A group of students fellowship at the Club Rush.

Freshmen Mixer

The incoming fall-quarter students were welcomed to college life at the New Student Mixer held in the Kinderhaus annex. Sponsored by SGA, the mixer was a big success, giving students a chance to develop new friendships and to get a glimpse of the excitement of fellowship at a Christian college. ABS president, Rondy McBrayer, introduced the activities of the evening as well as the members of the 1984-85 Student Government Association. Melinda Nabors was in charge of recreation.

Evie Freeman shares her excitement at the beginning of a new year.

Steve Green

A quiet, yet well dressed man stepped up to the microphone. As he introduced himself, he also introduced his Savior. His face shone with happiness as he told of Jesus Christ. Steve Green did not sing to perform; he sang to get a message across to the audience. Each of his songs had a message about Jesus in it. There was much to be learned from what he had to say.

Mrs. Green got up and told of the unity in their family. Together they sang a song about a godly family. Both of them seemed to love their Lord more than anything else in the world. Then, Steve shared a short sermon with us. Thus we saw how a concert can be entertaining and still teach us more about the One who died on Calvary. Each of us grew spiritually through his concert.

Connie Scott

On the night of September 6, many of Trevecca's young people gathered in McClurkin Auditorium for a gala event. It was the first concert held by SGA this year. Pastel balloons lined the stage as Connie Scott made her appearance. She was a smashing success.

When Connie asked for volunteers, hands shot up all over the auditorium. Three young men, eager to participate, quickly ran to join her on the stage. Cheers arose from the audience as Connie's amateur chorus made their debut. The crowd laughed until they cried.

A few more songs and choruses, and it was over. But it was a great concert, one to be remembered for years to come. We thank you Connie Scott and may God bless you.

Stalnecker

Stalnecker provided lively entertainment for Trevecca once again. Each song was filled with excitement as the group shared Jesus Christ through music.

Circle K Variety Show

The annual Circle K Variety Show provides entertainment for students and visiting VIP'ers. This year Ken Pearson (pictured bottom left) served as MC. Various students entered the show offering their talent. The acts ranged from Leesa Jernigan's impressive display of ventriloquism to the riotously funny antics of "cheerleaders" Larry Roberts, Bob Dufresne, and Randy Hulse and the Singers Dave Privett, Tim Haines and Jeff Whitacre.

Fall Retreat

Scott Lowry — Speaker

Fall Retreat 1985 was the best retreat Trevecca has experienced in a number of years. Rev. Scott Lowry, NYI President of the Georgia district, provided the speaking. Each person that left for retreat on Friday, returned on Sunday with new enthusiasm and determination to live the powerful Christian life.

New friendships were made and old friendships strengthened. The activities, games, and special times created bonds between each individual and brought them closer to God.

Halloween

Many Trevecca couples made the trip to Riverwood Recreation for an evening in the country this Halloween. The evening included horseback riding, the film "Phantom of the Opera," hot dogs and candied apples.

Kelly Henderson made a friend at the Halloween Party.

Thanksgiving Gala

The new student life center appeared as a fort as students entered the door through a teepee and received a warm welcome from the "pilgrims" of the Freshman class. Held on November 17, the Thanksgiving Gala, with its theme "Give thanks unto the Lord" was a true celebration. Students enjoyed delicious food, the performance of Silent Witness and the music of Rejoice from Grace Church of the Nazarene. Both groups performed with the beautiful, nighttime skyline of Nashville in the background. The gala united TNC students in a true spirit of thankfulness.

We should all give true Thanks.

Fall Revival

*Dr. Talmadge

Dr. Talmadge Johnson spoke for this year's fall revival. Each service lined the altars with seekers for encouragement or spiritual help. This revival will be a special memory for many years to come.

Dr. Johnson gives spiritual advice to Trevecca.

The William T. Slonecker Lectures

Bill Wade — Speaker

On October 24 and 25 of 1984, Bill Wade was the speaker in two chapel services. These services, designated as the Slonecker Lectures, were very unique.

The Slonecker Lectures is to bring Trevecca in contact with distinguished community leaders, and Bill Wade is one of these leaders. He is an officer with Third National Bank and was formerly a quarterback for the Chicago Bears. He quarterbacked the team to victory in the 1963 superbowl.

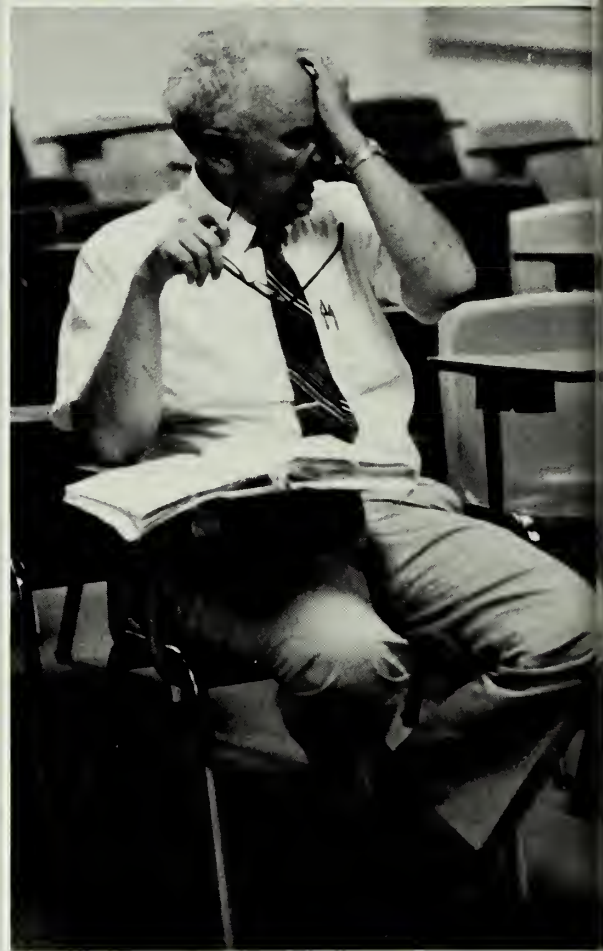

In his services, Bill Wade related many spiritual truths to his football and business careers, and in doing so he enriched the life of Trevecca's community.

Charley's Aunt

Each year TNC puts on several plays. TACT sponsored the production of Charley's Aunt in November 1984. This English farce written by Thomas Brandon in 1935 shows two college men trying to impress two young ladies. This very popular play was well-attended by the Trevecca community and provided an evening of comic entertainment.

Director Jim Warren shows his frustration at rehearsal.

Russ Hollingsworth

Warming up for Stalnecker, Russ Hollingsworth provided entertainment for TNC students. His style of singing was enjoyable to all those that attended.

On January 11, 1985, twenty six students from Trevecca headed to Haiti as part of a seminar in Cross-Cultural Communication and a work and witness trip. The Trevecca community contributed over $5,000 to build a chapel in a rural area known as Sedrin.

Homecoming

Homecoming. The most exciting and anticipated event of the year. Alumni, students, and faculty all pack the gym watching as their Trojans battle the opposing team. This year's opponent was Tennessee Wesleyan. Once again, Trevecca came through in triumphful victory.

Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony

Even though it was mid-November and the temperature was still in the middle fifties, the spirit of Christmas was felt by all who attended the annual Christmas Tree Lighting. A number of students gathered in front of the Administration building for fun and fellowship while the Madrigalians and the Handbell Choir provided a variety of musical selections congruent with the Christmas spirit. Afterwards, a communion service was held in McClurkan Auditorium.

Fifties Skate

It was almost as if the hands of time had been moved back as a number of students donned ducktails and poodle skirts for the All-School 50's skate. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Truth provided the entertainment for the well-planned Valentine Banquet. Through their songs of praise, each heart was lifted closer to experiencing the one true love . . . the love of God.

"A Night To Remember"

The 1985 Valentine's Pageant was indeed "A Night to Remember." The girls chosen as representatives of their respective classes displayed their beauty in costumes designed by Wendell and Marsha Overstreet and entertained the crowd with their talent. Emcees Cindy Holmes and Mark Hodge integrated charm with spontaneous humor to keep the show flowing smoothly. Junior Donna Henderson was selected as the 1985 Valentine Queen.

Spiritual Renewal Week

The purpose of Spiritual Renewal Week is to provide a time of heartfelt renewal. We suppose this time (formally Student Revival) means so much because it is students ministering to students. The student speakers are selected by the Chapel Worship Committee from the nominations of RLC, SGA, and the Religion Department. It was agreed upon that should a name appear on all three or two of the three lists, that person would automatically be selected to speak. There were five such nominations and two others were added. This says much about the confidence placed in the speakers by both the faculty and students. This years speakers were Alan Foster, Julie Ann Runyan, Kathryn Lewis, Michael Joseph Boswith, Jeff Allen, Rick Harvey, and Kent Hughes.

Reuben Welch

Dr. Reuben Welch, guest speaker for Spring Revival/Benson Lecture Series April 2-5, is currently a professor at Point Loma Nazarene College. Dr. Welch, through his simple analysis of our complicated lives, inspired us to depend upon God for our every need. Dr. Welch is the grandson of "Uncle Bud" Robinson and the author of several books, one of which is "We Really Do Need Each Other."

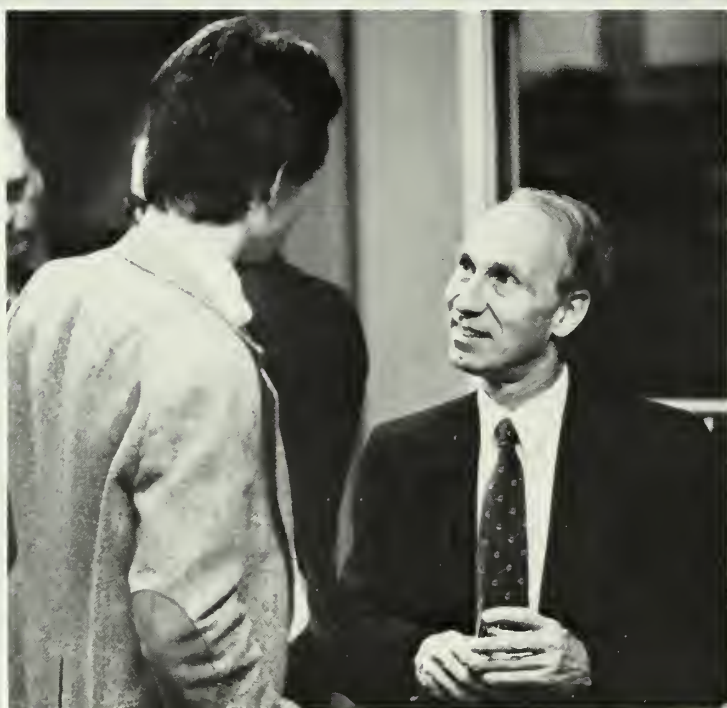

Earl Lee

Dr. Earl Lee, guest speaker for this year's Staley Lectures, was formerly pastor of Pasadena First Church and had a son named Gary who was a hostage in Iran. Dr. Lee challenged our minds with his messages and even displayed his musical talent on the trumpet.

Wachtel Lectures: Chic Shaver

Jeff Whitacre talks to Chic Shaver.

Chic Shaver is enthused by Alan Foster's comment.

The annual David K. Wachtel Lecture Series on Evangelism, held on January 8-10, was led this year by Rev. Charles (Chic) Shaver, associate professor of evangelism at Nazarene Theological Seminary. Throughout the series Rev. Shaver shared valuable insight on personal evangelism drawn from his experience at NTS and from serving as minister of outreach at Kansas City First Church of the Nazarene. These annual lectures are made possible by a fund established by the Wachtel family in memory of Dr. David K. Wachtel Sr., a man whose life was dedicated to promoting the cause of evangelism.

Rev. Charles Shaver gives lecture on Witnessing.

Mylon LeFevre And Broken Heart

Mylon LeFevre and his band, Broken Heart, testified of the transforming power of Jesus Christ in their unique form of Contemporary Christian music at the first concert of Winter Quarter. The concert, held at Tennessee Performing Arts Center, provided an uplifting experience for all who attended. Many were exhilarated by the upbeat songs of praise and adoration. LeFevre kept the audience captive, not only while performing, but also while he shared his powerful testimony of his salvation from a life of drugs and with the authoritative way in which he shared the Gospel.

All School Lock-In

"In the Gym," sponsored by SAC, provided a night for fun and games for those attending. Swimming, badminton, board games, films, and refreshments made this evening an exciting change from the usual college schedule.

Glad

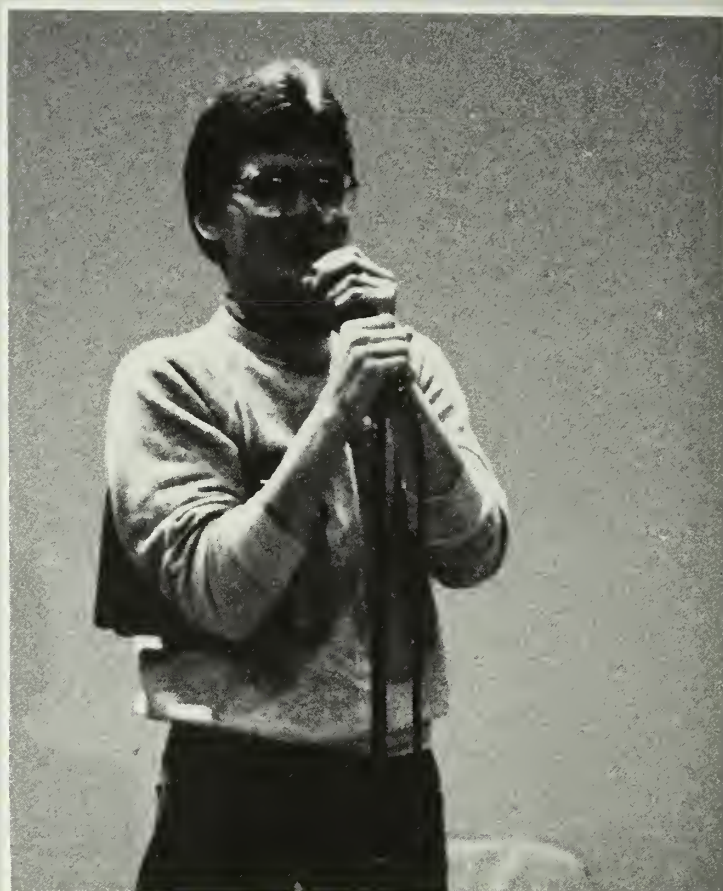

Sponsored by Ambassadors as a fund raising event, Glad provided excellent entertainment for those seeking to spend a Thursday night out. Each person left the concert with a deeper desire to serve their God.

Spring Retreat

Finley Knowles

Packed with fun, Spring Retreat provided a great time for all those who participated. Finley Knowles spoke during the times of renewal. He inspired all who attended to live a more dedicated Christian life.

Russ Taff, in concert in the Trevecca gymnasium, inspired us all to a new realization that life is so short, and we must give every day our best. The band's theme "We are His Medals" honored Christ for his heroic deed of dying on the cross to redeem us from sin.

Imperials

The Imperials performed at TPAC on April 26 to benefit Trevecca's radio station, WNAZ. They featured songs from their new album such as "Let the Wind Blow" and "In the Promised Land." Those who saw the concert left with a new determination to let the power of God work in their lives.

Western Extravaganza

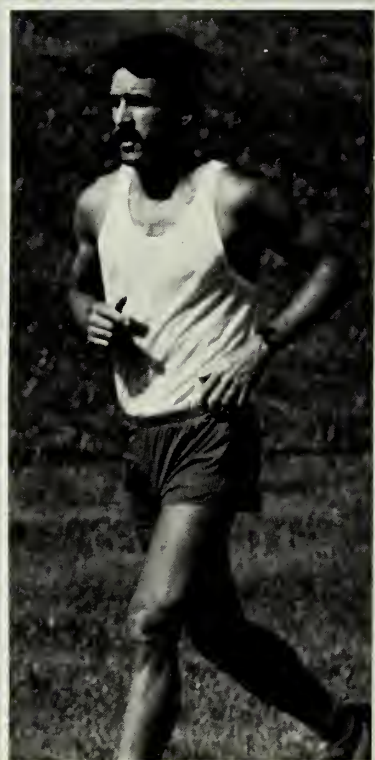

Sponsored by the Freshman Class, Western Extravaganza was a smashing success. Dinner was served at the Picnic Pavillion with the atmosphere of western life. After dinner games were played to enhance the Western festivities.

Spring Fling '85

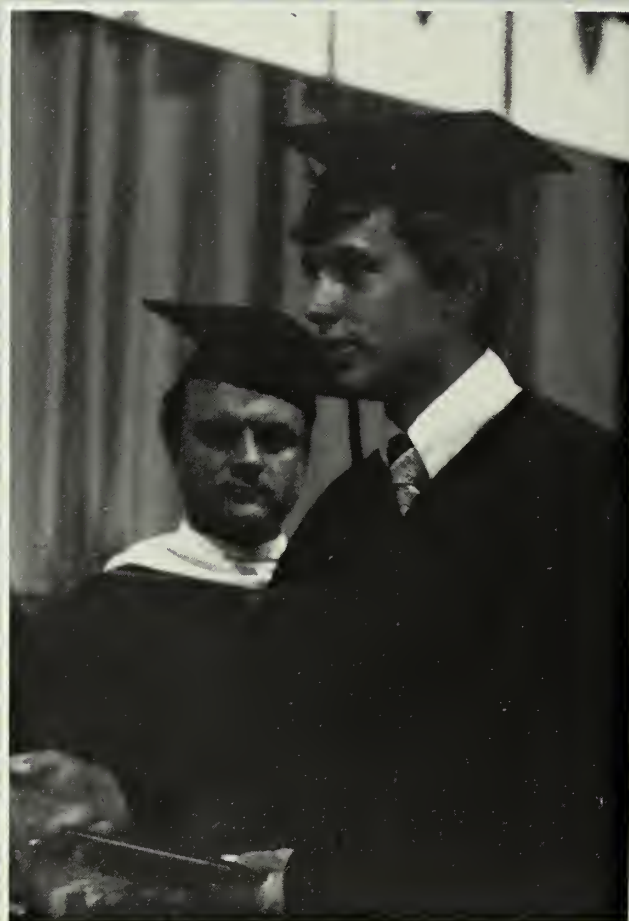

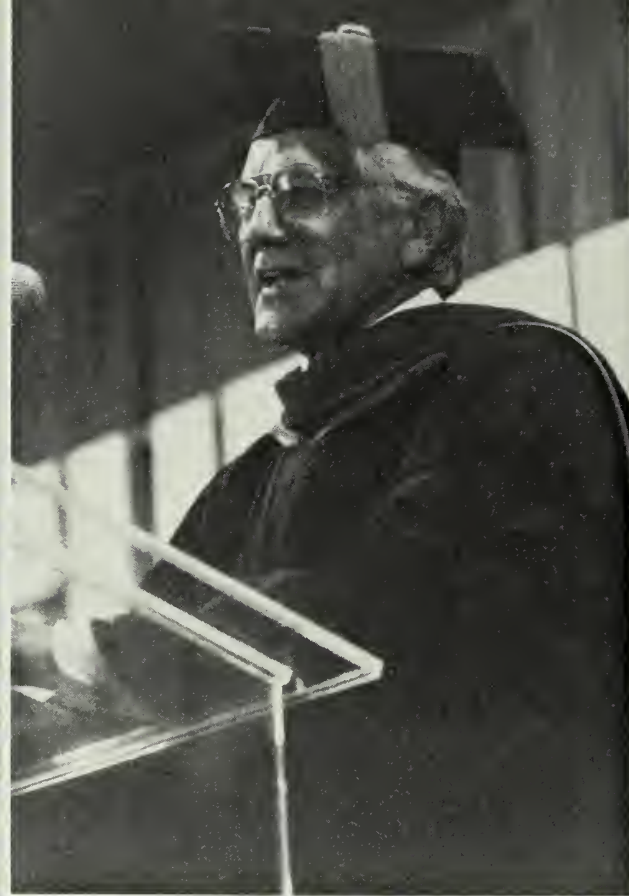

Beginning early Saturday morning with the Trevecca chase and ending late that evening with a film, Spring Fling provided a full day of activities for everyone. ATHLETICS

Athletics. From intramural football to varsity basketball, Trevecca is actively participating. Baseball, volleyball, and tennis add to the excitement of a well-rounded sports program.

Each game played by the Trevecca teams creates a special bond to the players, coaches, and spectators. Each of us will think back in years to come and remember the bonds that were created through the excitement of a game.

Weight

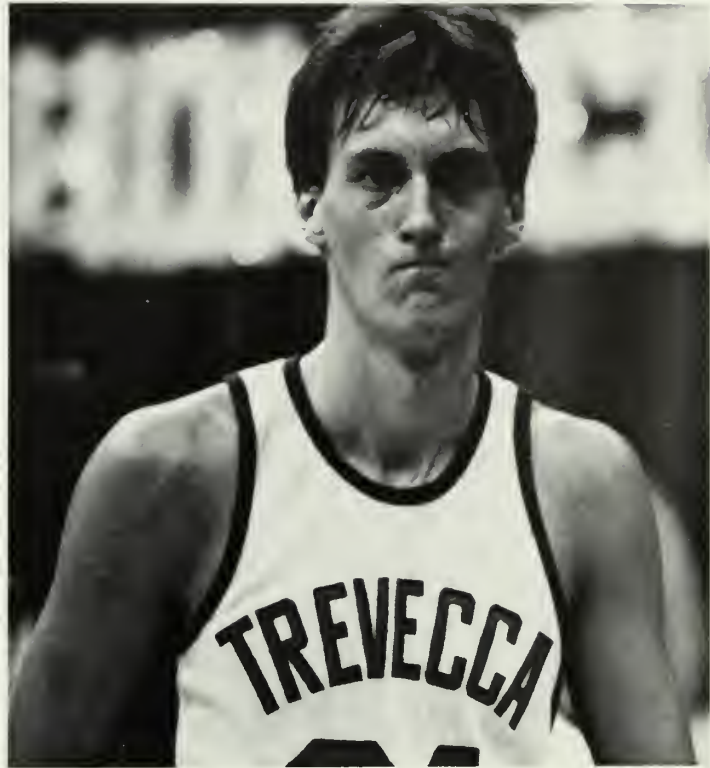

Weight lifting has become a popular passtime at Trevecca. The various equipment provides a place for both men and women to increase their physical fitness and build their muscular skills. The weight room serves the athletes as well as those who just want to improve their physical health.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Leaders. Faculty and administration play a vital role of Trevecca Nazarene College. Not only do they do their respected jobs, but they also go far beyond their job designations. Faculty and administration have spent countless hours counseling students on matters other than those pertaining to education.

During the hours of teaching, counseling, and talking, bonds are created between the student and faculty member that will be highly cherished by both. These bonds add to the enrichment of a Christian education.

CLASSES

People. Each picture represents an individual — but only for a moment, for each individual is continually changing, physically and mentally.

Each person had a place. We were a part of Trevecca — whether we wanted to be or not.

We were one, but at the same time, we were many. Often we dressed, sounded, and looked alike but there was always a separating characteristic that set each of us apart and made us unique.

Although each individual was unique, we were bonded together as one. We shared a common bond.

make your righteousness shine like the noonday sun." Psalm 37:5-6

Alan Wayne Foster

I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has given me strength, that he considered me faithful, appointing me to his service. I Timothy 1:12

A black and white photograph of a man with dark hair and a mustache, smiling broadly. He is wearing a dark jacket over a light-colored shirt. The background is a recording studio, with racks of electronic equipment and numerous knobs and sliders visible.

Bradley Guthrie

"Understanding is the reward of faith. Therefore, seek not to understand that thou mayest believe, but believe that thou mayest understand." St. Augustine

A black and white photograph of a man with a mustache, identified as Rick Harvey. He is wearing a dark, long-sleeved button-down shirt and jeans. He is standing in front of a stone wall with a metal railing in the background. The photo is taken from the waist up, and he is looking slightly to his left with a slight smile.

Rick Harvey

"I pray that my faith will shine through this cloak of secrecy that I wear."

Harold Kent Hughes

Jesus
Lead Me

A black and white photograph of Kathryn Lewis, a woman with voluminous, curly blonde hair, smiling warmly. She is wearing a dark, textured cable-knit sweater. She is leaning over a group of children. On the left, a child is wearing a large, dark, curly-haired wig with large white eyes. Another child is visible on the right, looking down. The background is slightly out of focus, showing other people in an outdoor setting.

the #1 choice

David Privett

"Behold where he stands — The God! Where? There; do you not see him? He is the God; and yet he has not a resting-place for his head, and he dares not lean on any man lest he cause him to be offended. He is the God; and yet he picks his steps more carefully than if angels guided them, not to prevent his feet from stumbling against a stone, but lest he trample human beings in the dust, in that they are offended by him. He is the God; and yet his eye rests upon mankind with deep concern, for the tender shafts of on individual life may be crushed as easily as a blade of grass. How wonderful a life, all sorrow and all love; to yearn to express the equality of love, and yet to be misunderstood; to apprehend the danger that all men may be destroyed, and yet only so to be able really to save a single soul; his own life filled with sorrow, while each hour of the day is taken up with the troubles of the learner who confides in him! This is the God as he stands upon the earth, like unto the humblest by the power of his omnipotent love."

Johannes Climacus
Philosophical Fragments

Julie Smith Runyan

In light of Ephesians 3: "Faith enables us to awaken the potential of God's greatness in us; to act on that faith launches us from the pool of humanity and enables us to grasp the height, width, length, and depth of the love of Christ."

Larry Dale Smith

Jeanna Carol Skinner

"You can make yourself
into the kind of person who can spread love around,
and nothing could be more important to the world than that.

When you know that you are a faith-building, cheer-spreading, hope-generating,
encouragement-offering person

You will know how wonderful you are!
For the person who gives love,
falls in love with life.

You find that living can be an inspiring experience.

It's exciting living with a heart full of love for others!" — Robert Schuller

"... I am still a child of the times, a child of unbelief and doubt, and I know that I shall remain so till the grave. What fearful torment this thirst to believe has cost me, and the more arguments I find to the contrary, the stronger it becomes in my soul." — Dostoyevsky

ADVERTISEMENTS

Community. Webster defines it as "the people living in an area or the area itself."

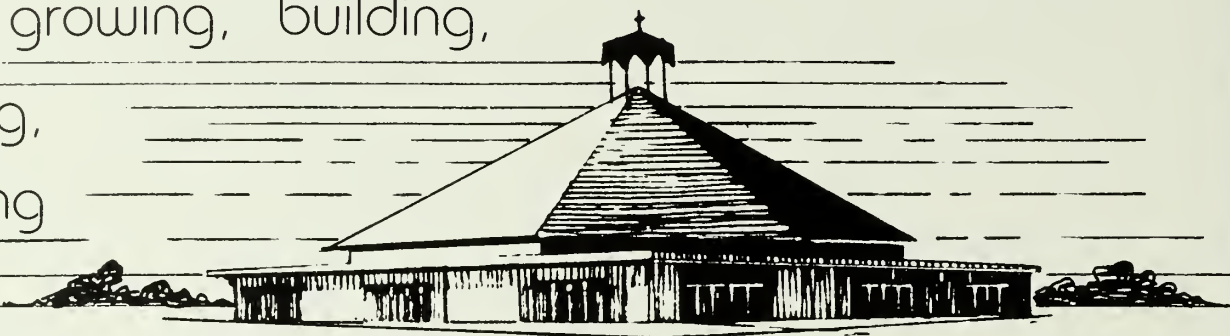

The people of the Nashville area have played an important role in the lives of TNC students by providing jobs, recreation, and worship.

The people on the Trevecca Zone make up a much larger community. The churches across the zone support Trevecca by sending students and financial aid.

Trevecca has a common bond with the Nashville community. The bonds created have helped Trevecca become an outstanding college.

Dear Friends,

As I think about this year, I can see that in every way each of us shared a Common Bond. A bond that held us together Academically, Socially, Physically, and Spiritually. This bond helped us stand together against all the perils that came our way and rejoice over all the elated moments of joy and excitement that kept us going from one day to the next.

Once again another year has flown by leaving us to reflect on friendships gained, moments shared, and successes and failures we've made. It is my hope that every moment we have shared will become an intricate part of us throughout our lives. This book will remain as a reflection of these memories to be looked upon in the future as a remembrance of our college years. We hope that it will bring you tears of laughter and joy as you reflect upon it in years to come.

In closing, I would like to give my thanks to all the people who made this DARDA possible. To Carl Eby, Brian Hulse, and Stephen Perry, thanks for your cooperation in the photography of this book. Special thanks goes to Steve for working long hours overtime in order for us to make our deadlines. To Mrs. Carol Eby, our advisor, thank you for your support and encouragement. To Teresa Young, my roommate, thanks for acting as my secretary when I was not available to answer DARDA calls. To Claire Flannery and Danny Eaton, thanks for all the hours of work you've put into the making of this yearbook. To all my staff and others that helped us out when we needed some extra hands, a tremendous thank you. Each one of you had a special part in this production. I am looking forward to working with each of you again next year.

Sincerely yours,

Beverli Lindsey
